From Harvard Business Publishing's The Faculty Lounge Newsletter

Designing Engaging Learning Experiences for Undergraduates Webinar Recording

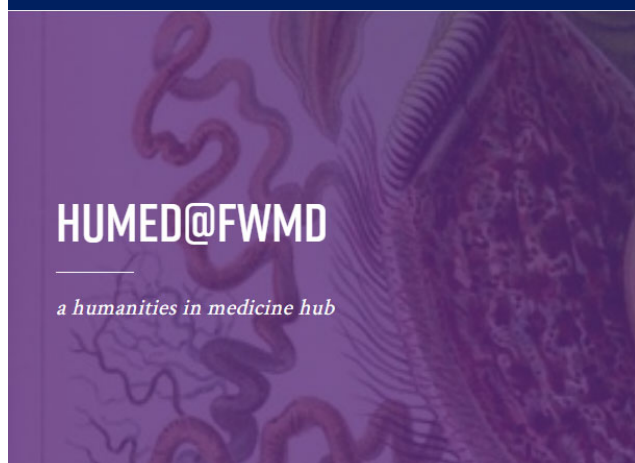

Michael Roberto, Trustee Professor of Management,
Bryant University

In this webinar for Harvard Business Publishing, Michael Robert from Bryant University outlines his strategies for psychologically safe cold calling, which can create anxiety-inducing for students. While cold calls are a powerful teaching tool, they can also undermine the work being done to create more inclusive and supportive class environments. Robert's 3 Strategies for Less Stressful, More Effective Cold Calls, adapted from the Designing Engaging Learning Experiences for Undergraduates was also featured in The Faculty Lounge e-mail newsletter. To learn more on how register for The Faculty Lounge e-mail newsletter, please visit here.

HUMed Journal – Accepting Submissions!

HuMed: Merging Medical Humanities and Creative Non-Fiction by The Compassionate Practice® is an online journal specializing in Medical Humanities and other forms of engagement with literature, critical theory, the arts, and history. HuMed features creative non-fiction, autotheory, poetry, short stories, original artwork, and critical essays that address the interdisciplinary side of medicine and humanistic care. New submissions are posted on a monthly basis.

At this time, submissions are open to anyone at the TCU and UNT School of Medicine: students, faculty, and staff. Although not all pieces may be accepted in their original form, we are committed to offering support for revision until they are publication-ready. Anyone who submits to HuMed will be paired with a member of our editorial board for ongoing guidance. And, don't forget to subscribe to the HuMed email listserv to receive a newsletter featuring humanities in medicine content, events and opportunities!

Grant Funding Opportunities

Every month, the Office of Faculty Development will provide current grant funding opportunities that might be of interest to faculty members. You may view current grant funding opportunities by visiting here, which will be updated monthly. For more information on the grant writing process in general, the Office of Research and Sponsored at TCU is a great resource for information on the grant process, hosts an archive of lists of funding agencies and internal grant opportunities. Finally, you may view an array of recorded past sessions here. Faculty are welcome to contact our office at MDFacultyDev@tcu.edu for any questions on research and grant opportunities.

Evidence-based Principles for Designing Multimedia Instruction

Facilitated by Dr. Richard Mayer

November 5, 2021

12:00 PM – 1:00 PM

UNTHSC LIB 400 OR Via Zoom

No RSVP

Multimedia supplements our instruction in many teaching contexts, whether we use PowerPoint during a face-to-face lecture, a computer-animated game to help students understand an abstract concept, short video lectures in an online course, or graphics in a textbook. In this talk, Dr. Richard Mayer will provide a concise overview of his cognitive theory of multimedia learning, and share evidence-based principles to design learning materials that are in alignment with how students learn and process information.

From the TCU Office of Research: How to Pursue Funding from Mission Agencies – DOE, DoD, USDA/NIFA, USGS, U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service and Other Agencies

Presented by Lucy Deckard, owner of consulting firm Academic Research Funding Strategies, LLC

November 11, 2021

2:00 PM – 4:00 PM

Via Zoom

No RSVP

This 2-hour, proposal development workshop will cover how mission agencies are different from fundamental research agencies, how to identify and analyze funding opportunities, how to talk to Program Officers, and how to write white papers and full proposals. The workshop leader is Lucy Deckard who has her own consulting firm, Academic Research Funding Strategies, LLC in 2010. She works with universities and faculty across the U.S., helping them develop the skills to compete successfully for research funding. She has extensive experience helping to prepare proposals to a wide range of funders, including NSF, NIH, DoD, DARPA, DOE, DoED, NASA and USDA.

TCU Interdisciplinary Works in Progress Series:

Gioconda Belli's Feminism, between Decolonization and Gendered Experience

Presented by Dr. Andrew Ryder (Honors College)

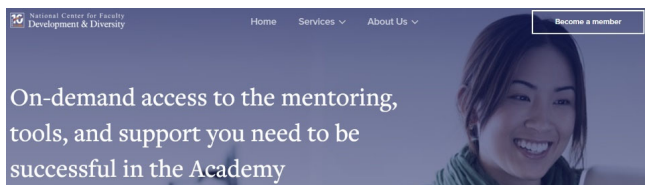

December 3, 2021

2:00 – 3:30pm

Dee J. Kelly Alumni Center, Murphy Conference Room

No RSVP

The Interdisciplinary Works in Progress series features TCU faculty presentations of their interdisciplinary research or creative activity for discussion with a multidisciplinary audience. The purpose of this forum is to help interdisciplinary scholars and artists get feedback from peers outside their own discipline. A secondary aim is to stimulate faculty conversations across disciplinary boundaries. If you would like to give an IdWiP talk during the 2021-22 academic year, please email Dr. Mikio Akagi (m.akagi@tcu.edu) with a tentative title.
